Monday, March 18

9:15 am
Welcome Remarks
Larry Wolff, Executive Director, Remarque Institute; Co-Director NYU Florence

9:30-11:30
EUROSCEPTIC UK AND IMMINENT BREXIT
How does Euroscepticism continue to shape the politics of Brexit since 2016?
Ed Miliband, Leader of the Labour Party, 2010-2015
Agnès Alexandre-Collier, CNRS, Paris; Maison Française d'Oxford
Ed Vaizey MP, Conservative Party Minister for Culture, 2010-2016
Marisa Bellack, Europe Editor, The Washington Post
Sir Stephen Wall, British Representative to the EU, 1995-2000

11:30
Lunch

1:00-3:00 pm
EXIT AND SCEPTICISM: THE VIEW FROM BRUSSELS
What does the growth of political Euroscepticism in the member countries, and the possibility of future exits from the Union, mean for the future of the Union in Brussels?
Antoine Ripoll, European Parliament Liaison Office with the US Congress
Catharina Sørensen, Think Tank EUROPA, Copenhagen
Renaud Dehousse, President, European University Institute
Tamás Meszerics, MEP, Hungary, Group of the Greens
George Ross, Sociology Professor Emeritus, Brandeis; Jean Monnet Chair, Montreal

3:00
Coffee break

3:30-5:30
MEDIA, ELECTIONS, AND EUROSCEPTICISM
What role does the media play in creating the public forum for European unity and European scepticism, especially in the context of political elections and referendums?
Alexandra Borchardt, Reuters Institute for the Study of Journalism, Oxford
Federico Fubini, Corriere della Sera
Michaela Wiegel, Frankfurter Allgemeine Zeitung
Nicolò Conti, Università Unitelma Sapienza, Rome; NYU Florence
Giorgia Giovannetti, Economics, Università Firenze; NYU Florence
Roberto D’Alimonte, Political Science, LUISS Guido Carli, Rome; NYU Florence
Tuesday, March 19

10:00-12:00 am  ECONOMIES AND SOCIETIES OF SCEPTICISM
How do the economic circumstances of the Euro and the Union produce sentiment for and against the European Union?
Giampiero M. Gallo, Italian Court of Auditors, NYU Florence
Marco Simoni, LUISS Business School; Former Economic Adviser to the Italian Government
Molly Nolan, History Professor Emerita, New York University
Christian Martin, Comparative Politics, Kiel; European and Mediterranean Studies, NYU
Sergio Fabbrini, Dean of Political Science, LUISS Guido Carli, Rome

12:00 pm  Lunch

2:00-4:00  EUROSCEPTICISM AND POST-COLD WAR ENLARGEMENT
How should we understand the emergence and importance of Euroscepticism in the post-communist countries that have joined the Union since 2004?
Jiri Pehe, Director, NYU Prague
Istvan Rev, Director, Open Society Archives; Central European University, Vienna
Dorota Dakowska, Political Science, Université Lumière Lyon 2
Larry Wolff, Executive Director, Remarque Institute; Co-Director NYU Florence
Hadas Aron, Center for European and Mediterranean Studies, NYU
Jacques Rupnik, Political Science, Sciences Po, Paris

4:00-4:30  Concluding Discussion

4:30-5:30  Reception

With the generous support of
The Remarque Institute and the Center for European and Mediterranean Studies

R.S.V.P. at lapietra.reply@nyu.edu
NYU FLORENCE - Villa La Pietra
Via Bolognese 120, 50139 Florence, Italy

NYU FLORENCE