NYU Department of Italian Studies Presents our Annual

Undergraduate Research Conference

April 13th, 2017 | 9:00am – 3:00pm

Drawing on a range of periods, mediums, and methodologies, our undergraduate students have brought to the fore a compelling set of questions on various objects of Italian cultural production. Please join NYU’s Department of Italian Studies to hear the fruits of their research and participate in engaging discussions on their papers. Topics under consideration range from Ariosto’s classic epic, Orlando Furioso, Machiavelli’s political philosophy, post-WWII visual cultures, and Elena Ferrante’s emotionally charged novelistic writing.
