This course begins with a continuation of Freud’s technique papers, particularly emphasizing Freud’s ideas about memory and its retrieval in the psychoanalytic setting. We will continue with a discussion of some of Freud’s most significant psychoanalytic contributions, including the introduction of the concept of narcissism, the significance of sado-masochism and aggression in psychic development, and a consideration of Freud’s ideas about object relations. Also to be considered is Freud’s final dual instinct theory, and how this impacted on the evolution of the structural model of the mind, the central importance of ego development and functioning, and a re-evaluation of the central concepts of anxiety, repression, and defense. Finally, Freud’s final thoughts on the nature of sexuality, gender development, the nature of the mind and psychoanalysis as a clinical modality will be assessed. Throughout all of our discussions, current thinking about the subjects under consideration will be included.

Week 1: Technique Papers (continued from Freud I)
Remembering, Repeating and Working Through, SE XII, 145-156

Week 2: Narcissism

Weeks 3 and 4: Transformation of Instincts
Instincts and Their Vicissitudes, SE XIV, 109-140.
Character and Anal Erotism, SE IX, 167-176.
Week 5: The Final Dual Instinct Theory
Beyond the Pleasure principle, SE XVIII, 1-64.
New Introductory Lectures, Lecture, XXXII, SE XXII, 81-111.

Week 6: Theories of Aggression
A Child is Being Beaten, SE XVII, 175-204.
The Economic Problem of Masochism, SE XIX, 155-172.

Weeks 7 and 8: Freud’s Object Relations Theory
Mourning and Melancholia, SE XIV, 237-258.
Group Psychology and the Analysis of the Ego: Chapters 5, 7, 8, 11, SE, XVIII, 65-144.

Weeks 9 and 10: The Structural Theory
The Ego and the Id, SE XIX, 1-66.

Weeks 11 and 12: Theories of Anxiety
Inhibitions, Symptoms and Anxiety, SE XX, 75-176.
Week 13: Sexuality-Later Conceptualizations
The Dissolution of the Oedipus Complex, SE XIX, 173-182.
Female Sexuality, SE XXI, 221-246.

Week 14: Neurosis and Psychosis
Neurosis and Psychosis, SE XIX, 149-154.
The Loss of Reality in Neurosis and Psychosis, SE XIX, 183-190.
Negation, SE XIX, 235-240.
Fetishism, SE XXI, 147-158.

Week 15: Concluding Thoughts
Analysis Terminable and Interminable, SE XXIII, 209-254.
An Outline of Psychoanalysis, SE XXIII, 139-208.