

Visiting Scholar Applicant Certification

The program for visiting scholars, visiting research professors, and visiting exchange professors extends specified courtesy titles and privileges to scholars of distinction who visit New York University (NYU) in order to engage in research and scholarship, and in general scholarly and cultural interaction with NYU's faculty and students. The courtesy titles may not be granted for the purpose of providing free courses or other privileges to graduate or post-graduate students, or for the sole purpose of providing library privileges.

Visiting scholars, visiting research professors, and visiting exchange professors are considered guests of the University who may visit for a temporary period of up to one year (renewable at the discretion of the relevant Dean or Institute Director). They are not employees of NYU and under no circumstances shall they be considered such. As non-employees, they have no teaching or other responsibilities and they do not receive compensation, employee benefits, housing, office space, or any other terms and conditions of employment.
