

NYU Department of English Graduate Conference and Travel Grant

The Department of English has established a fund to support graduate student travel for conferences, research, and other opportunities for professional development. MA and PhD students currently enrolled in the Department are eligible to apply after they have exhausted other sources of travel support available from the Graduate School. Every graduate student may make up to two requests to the fund during the course of their enrollment in the program; additional requests will be considered as a secondary priority. Applications from postdoctoral fellows in residence in the department are also eligible for consideration, pending availability of funds.

Applicants for conference support should submit documentation of accepted papers or other forms of active participation, budget of travel expenses, and endorsement by a faculty adviser confirming student's progress towards the degree. Applicants for research support should submit a detailed research plan, identifying materials/collections and explaining their importance to doctoral or MA thesis project, budget of travel expenses, and endorsement of application by faculty adviser. Applications are due December 1 and April 1 of each academic year. Applications and supporting letters should be submitted to Lissette Florez in the Graduate Program Office.
