BOOKS AND EDITED VOLUMES

Jeff Goodwin (forthcoming), A Theory of Terrorism. This book examines, and attempts to explain, the decision of various states and political groups to kill—or to refrain from killing—ordinary civilians in pursuit of their political goals, in a wide variety of contexts.

Jeff Goodwin and James M. Jasper, editors (2015), The Social Movements Reader: Cases and Concepts, 3rd edition (New York: Wiley Blackwell). A collection of readings on contentious collective action, including the U.S. civil rights movement, the women’s movement, the gay and lesbian movement, Occupy Wall Street, and the Arab Spring.

Jeff Goodwin and James M. Jasper, editors (2012), Contention in Context: Political Opportunities and the Emergence of Protest (Stanford, CA: Stanford University Press). Critically examines the claim that “political opportunities” are important for collective political action.

Gregory M. Maney, Rachel V. Kutz-Flamenbaum, Deana Rohlinger, and Jeff Goodwin, editors (2012), Strategies for Social Change (Minneapolis: University of Minnesota Press). A collection of essays on the choice (and outcomes) of different strategies by social movement leaders and organizations.

Jeff Goodwin, guest editor (2012), Special Issue on Political Violence and Terrorism, Mobilization, Vol. 17, No. 1, pp. 1-98.

Jeff Goodwin and James M. Jasper, editors (2009), The Social Movements Reader: Cases and Concepts, 2nd edition (New York: Wiley-Blackwell).

Jeff Goodwin and James M. Jasper, editors (2007), The Contexts Reader (New York: W. W. Norton). A collection of articles and other materials originally published in Contexts magazine.

Jeff Goodwin and James M. Jasper, editors (2007), Social Movements: Critical Concepts in Sociology, Volume 1: Crowd Behavior and Psychological Perspectives, Volume 2: Organization and Infrastructure, Volume 3: Politics and Strategy, Volume 4: Culture and Emotion (London: Routledge). An extensive collection of classic and contemporary papers on social movements.

Jeff Goodwin and James M. Jasper, editors (2004), Rethinking Social Movements: Structure, Culture, and Emotion (Lanham, MD: Rowman & Littlefield). A collection of readings on current theorizing in the field of social movements, especially political process theory, and the future of this field.

Jeff Goodwin and James M. Jasper, editors (2003), The Social Movements Reader: Cases and Concepts (New York: Blackwell).

Jeff Goodwin and Ruth Horowitz, guest editors (2002), "Symposium on Methodology in Qualitative Sociology," Qualitative Sociology, Vol. 25, No. 1, pp. 33-128. A special issue on qualitative methods.

Jeff Goodwin, James M. Jasper, and Francesca Polletta, editors (2001), Passionate Politics: Emotions and Social Movements (Chicago: University of Chicago Press). This volume examines the variety of ways in which emotions matter for social movements and political life generally. Among the topics covered are movement recruitment, internal dynamics, strategies, and impacts. (Translated into Korean by Hanul Publishing Group [2012].)

Jeff Goodwin (2001), No Other Way Out: States and Revolutionary Movements, 1945-1991 (Cambridge: Cambridge University Press). This book develops a comparative and historical explanation of the emergence, success, and failure of revolutionary movements in Southeast Asia, Central America, and Eastern Europe. (Awarded the Outstanding Book prize by the Collective Behavior and Social Movements Section of the American Sociological Association, 2002; honorable mention, Mirra Komarovsky Book Award, Eastern Sociological Society, 2002; honorable mention, Mattei Dogan Award, Society for Comparative Research, 2003.)

Excerpts from chapter 8 of this book are reprinted as "The East European Revolutions of 1989" in Revolutions: Theoretical, Comparative, and Historical Studies, 3rd edition, edited by Jack A. Goldstone (Belmont, CA: Wadsworth, 2003), pp. 255-61.
