

Undergraduate Course Petition

The Department of Sociology offers and sponsors many courses per year. NYU Sociology students are expected to complete their major/minor requirements through these regular course offerings.

While other department courses may include a sociological dimension, this does not automatically qualify those courses to count as substitutes for SOC-UA courses towards the Sociology major or minor.

Students can petition for up to two courses to count towards the major and one course to count towards the minor. This completed form, along with the syllabus of the course being petitioned for credit, must be submitted to the Sociology Director of Undergraduate Studies for review. Once a decision is rendered, you will be notified by the Sociology Department via email. No course is guaranteed.

Reason you are petitioning this course to take the place of a SOC-UA course:

Check the requirement you are petitioning for this course to fulfil (course can only count toward one of the following):

- SOC-UA 1 Introduction to Sociology
- SOC-UA 111 Sociological Theory
- SOC-UA 301 Research Methods
- SOC-UA 302 Statistics for Social Research
- SOC-UA XXX Sociology Elective

- Remember to attach a copy of the course syllabus.
- Complete one form per course petition request (up to two courses for the major and one course for the minor).
- This petition assesses whether a course may be counted towards the Sociology major or minor. It does not guarantee acceptance of credits.
- Do not fill out this form for the below GLS / CAS courses (course substitutions are not allowed for the following):
 - Social Foundations I, II and III
 - College Core Curriculum (CORE-UA Courses)
 - Freshman Honors Seminars, Advanced Honors Seminars, Collegiate Honors Seminars

Please submit this form, along with the syllabus to: socstudentadvising@nyu.edu or deliver to: The Puck Building, Department of Sociology, 4th Floor, Front Desk.
